Franklin K2 Alternative Strategies Fund

Class A (acc) EUR-H1 • ISIN LU1093756242 • A sub-fund of Franklin Templeton Investment Funds
The management company is Franklin Templeton International Services S.à r.l.

Objectives and Investment Policy

Franklin K2 Alternative Strategies Fund (the “Fund”) aims to increase the value of its investments over the medium to long term and to keep share price fluctuations lower than those for equity markets generally.

The Fund can invest in any asset, and use any investment technique, that is permitted to a UCITS fund, including those that are generally considered to be high risk.

The Fund can invest in any kind of equity securities and debt securities from any country or type of issuer. It can invest directly or may gain exposure to investments indirectly, such as through derivatives, participatory notes, or by investing in other UCITS or UCIs. It can take direct or indirect long or short positions in securities, currencies, interest rates, and other investments or financial instruments. It may also take indirect long or short positions in commodities. The Fund may engage in derivative transactions that have the effect of magnifying investment gains or losses. The Fund uses high quantity of listed and unlisted derivatives for hedging, efficient portfolio management and/or investment purposes. The Fund may engage in active and frequent trading as part of its investment strategies.

The lead manager assigns portions of the Fund’s assets to multiple outside management teams (selected and monitored by the lead manager), each of which uses an alternative investment strategy to manage its portion. These strategies may seek to benefit from, for instance, global economic trends, corporate mergers or reorganizations, pricing variations between markets or securities, industries or geographic regions with above-average growth. The Fund’s overall performance will be the result of the performance of the different strategies involved and the portion of the Fund’s assets assigned to such strategies.

You may request the sale of your shares on any Luxembourg business day.

The income received from the Fund’s investments is accumulated with the result of increasing the value of the shares.

For further information on the Objectives and Investment Policy of the Fund, please refer to the section “Fund Information, Objectives and Investment Policies” of the current prospectus of Franklin Templeton Investment Funds.

Terms to Understand

Debt securities: Securities representing the issuer’s obligation to repay a loan at a specified date and to pay interest.

Derivatives: Financial instruments whose characteristics and value depend on the performance of one or more underlying assets, typically securities, indexes, currencies or interest rates.

Equity securities: Securities that represent an ownership stake in a company.

Hedging: A strategy for totally or partially offsetting particular risks such as those arising from fluctuations in share prices, currencies or interest rates.

Long position, short position: A long position benefits when an investment’s price goes up; a short position benefits when the price goes down.

Risk and Reward Profile

What does this indicator mean and what are its limits?

This indicator is designed to provide you with a measure of the price movement of this share class based on historical behavior.

Historical data may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Fund. The category shown is not guaranteed to remain unchanged and may shift over time.

The lowest category does not mean risk free.

As the share class has no sufficient historical data available, simulated data based on a representative portfolio model or benchmark have been used instead.

Why is the Fund in this specific category?

The Fund seeks to achieve its targeted investment objective by allocating its assets across multiple “alternative” strategies and by investing in a wide range of assets. Such assets and investment instruments have historically been subject to price movements due to such factors as general stock market volatility, sudden changes in interest rates, or fluctuations in commodity prices. The Fund will seek to limit volatility using hedged strategies. As a result, the performance of the Fund can fluctuate moderately over time.

Risks materially relevant not adequately captured by the indicator:

Credit risk: the risk of loss arising from default that may occur if an issuer fails to make principal or interest payments when due. This risk is higher if the Fund holds low-rated, non-investment-grade securities.

Currency risk: the risk of loss arising from exchange-rate fluctuations or due to exchange control regulations.

Derivatives risk: the risk of loss in an instrument where a small change in the value of the underlying investment may have a larger impact on the value of such instrument. Derivatives may involve additional liquidity, credit and counterparty risks.

Liquidity risk: the risk that arises when adverse market conditions affect the ability to sell assets when necessary. Reduced liquidity may have a negative impact on the price of the assets.

Operational risk: the risk of losses resulting from errors or failures arising from the people, systems, service providers or processes upon which the Fund depends.

Targeted return risk: there is no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its targeted objective. The Fund seeks to achieve its returns over a full market cycle to achieve a positive return. Capital invested in the Fund may decline in value.

For a full discussion of all the risks applicable to this Fund, please refer to the “Risk Considerations” section of the current prospectus of Franklin Templeton Investment Funds.
